DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN.

Mr. Christopher T. Lyles, an old, well-known and respected resident of this city, died suddenly at his place of business, on South Columbia street, near King, yesterday afternoon. He was alone when death overtook him, and shortly after he expired Mr. Charles Nowland and William H. Ward entered and found his lifeless body on the floor. Dr. Moore, the coroner, was notified, and after making an examination the doctor decided that an inquest was unnecessary. Mr. Lyles' death having resulted from the rupture of a blood vessel in the head.

The deceased was 77 years old. He was a native of Fairfax county but had lived in Alexandria almost from his youth. He was a brother of Messrs. L. D. and Edward Lyles. He was a charter member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Mr. Lyles was a member of the night watch shortly after the close of the civil war, and was one of the members of the police force when it was organized in 1870. His wife and the following children survive: Mrs. Frances Sims, Mrs. Baulch Hartwig, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. John Moore, Miss Edie L. Lyles, J. R. George L., Arthur and Thomas Lyles.

The funeral will take place from the house, 1419 Prince street, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

SPOKE ON "ANANIAS CLUB."

A final rally was held in the parlors of the Arlington Hotel, Washington, last evening by the Virginia Democratic Association of the District of Columbia. W. Massey Williams presided, and introduced Mr. James R. Canon, of Alexandria, as the first speaker. On the subject of the "Ananias Club," Mr. Canon said:

"President Roosevelt has placed himself in the same club he so eagerly put others. He previously had put the Standard Oil corporation with supporters of the democratic platform as one of that party's trust supporters, and here in the last twenty-four hours John D. Rockefeller has come out with his intentions of supporting the republican party. What does this and other recent developments mean? It means that the same sources are helping the republican party today as helped them in years gone by. They have fooled the people some of the time, but they can't fool them all the time."

Among the other speakers were M. I. Weller and M. J. Williams of McIntire. Later Mr. Canon delivered a speech before the Columbia Democratic Association in the Mausey building. He had been invited to deliver a address at the open-air meeting in Haymarket square, but he could not accept the invitation. Mr. Canon will speak at King George Courthouse on Monday.

HALLOWEEN.

Tonight will be Halloween and witches, goblins, spirits and other mythical creatures will be abroad in every mischievous small boy who can escape parental watchfulness. A number of parties will be given in this city and neighborhood tonight. The police will endeavor to curb the mischievousness of such youngsters as are prone on such occasions to deface or damage property. Those who may be tempted to throw missiles will run the risk of facing the Police Court Monday morning.

Policemen today accosted several boys who were coming from the confines of the city with a large number of sycamore balls in their possession. These were to be used tonight in bombarding front doors. The officers relieved them of the missiles and released them with an admonition. Chief Goads has given orders to the police to arrest all persons caught perpetrating practical jokes tonight.

ACCIDENTS.

Miss Helen E. Oregon, daughter of Mr. Michael Oregon, was thrown from a buggy at the intersection of King and Pitt streets yesterday afternoon and seriously injured on the head and shoulder. She was picked up by people who witnessed the accident and taken to her home on South Royal street, where she was attended by Dr. Gorman. Miss Oregon was seated in the buggy with Miss Mary A. Penn, both of whom are employed in the office of the Ches. King & Son Co. The young women were driving down King street and when they reached Pitt street the horse attached to the buggy became frightened at a passing electric train and shied, causing a collision with another buggy. Miss Oregon was thrown out with the result stated above. The shafts of the buggy were broken by the accident.

Mrs. Jones, wife of Dr. T. M. Jones, was the victim of a painful though fortunately not a serious accident on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Jones was seated in a buggy with her daughter and was proceeding south on Washington street. A heavy rain was falling at the time, and when the buggy containing the two ladies approached King street a wagon belonging to the Porter Brewing Company on its way down that thoroughfare suddenly appeared. Mrs. Jones attempted to stop her horse as did also the driver of the wagon his horse but a collision was inevitable, and when the two vehicles came together the tongue of the wagon went over the wheel of the buggy, almost demolishing it, and striking Mrs. Jones on the chest inflicting painful injuries. Miss Jones escaped injury in the accident.

THE DANCING CLASS.

Mr. Janney's dancing class at Odd Fellows' Hall was largely attended last night. The main feature was the practicing of the fan dance or what was formerly known as "dancing in the barn." This dance having been revived after several decades of what the late Mr. Cleveland would call "inocuous disuse" and having been dressed in new frills, so to speak, bids fair to become very fashionable for a while at least. Mr. Janney is a just master as a teacher of this fad, and is meeting with the success he deserves. The dance consists mainly in the ability of the "Terspichorean" to execute a succession of agile and graceful hops, interspersed with short runs. So there are all kinds of artists. There is the sprightly and giddy hopper, the solemn hopper, the sedate hopper, and the go-as-you-please hopper. One is reminded of Bunsen's famous poem, "Tam-O'Shanter." Old Tam prepping through the windows of Kirk Alloway, where the witches are holding high carnival—and observing one cutting extraordinary capers should out, "Well done O' sark and in an instant all was dark, &c." Long live the barn dance and those that can't do it must "go way back and sit down."

STILL CONFINED TO HER BED.

Mrs. Jacob Zimmerman, who was injured in a collision between electric trolleys a short distance below Alexandria several weeks ago, is still confined to her bed at Bliss farm. Mrs. Zimmerman, who is an old lady, sustained a concussion of the spine and other injuries by the accident. She is now suffering from erysipelas. Dr. T. M. Jones, of this city, is attending Mrs. Zimmerman.

PRINCE OF JERUSALEM.

The new fall of the Oriental University, 413 King street, is now ready, and instruction will begin there next Monday. Prince Immanuel, of Jerusalem, Palestine, yesterday arrived in Alexandria to make arrangements with President Heller to travel in the interest of the Oriental University, as well as of the new University of Jerusalem. He stayed at the Fleischmann Hotel. If possible, he will be back tonight, when the University Hall will be formally opened and the students of the Oriental will give a Halloween entertainment to their friends.

FIRE IN A CELLAR.

The alarm of fire shortly before 12 o'clock today was caused by the discovery of a fire in the cellar under Mr. Joseph M. Armstrong's wall paper store on the south side of King street, between Fairfax and Royal. The department responded and soon subdued the flames, which had started in a pile of paper in the cellar, but not before considerable damage had been done by fire and water.

THE MARKET.

There was an average supply of country produce in market this morning. Prices were firm at last Saturday's quotations. Eggs were still selling at 35 cents per dozen. Among the exhibits this morning was a live possum.

HELD UP AND ROBBED.

A colored woman named Nannie Stone, who says she lived with Mrs. Smith, at Accotink, and was on her way to Washington to work for Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. Davis, at 1112 Q street, reported at the station house this morning that she had been held up and robbed on the railroad track, west of the Alexandria station, she left the train at Seminary station, believing she was at the Alexandria station, she left the train and walked down the track. When near Roberts' crossings, she says, she was approached by a colored man of light complexion and heavy set, who knocked her down, robbed her of ten dollars and was in the act of tearing off her shoes when her cries attracted the attention of some section men, who rushed to her assistance. The thief seeing that he had been discovered, ran off and made his escape across Cameron road, the section men being unable to keep up with him in his rapid flight. The city police are on the lookout for him.

A REMINDER OF BY-GONE DAYS.

A lottery wheel has been resting against the Pitt street side of the Opera House for several days. This wheel is a relic of the past, it having been used in drawing "prizes" in the Antislavery lottery in Farepa Hall in 1875. Many Alexandrians purchased tickets, but so far as is known, no one who held a ticket in this city or anywhere else drew a prize. It would require all the space in this page to describe the many laughable scenes incident to that drawing. "Now let the band play" has long been a common expression in Alexandria. During the drawing in the lottery occasionally those engaged in the procedure would call out, "ticket so-and-so, one thousand dollars," when some person in the audience would cry out, "And now let the band play!" But no one was ever able to ascertain who held the lucky numbers. Many Alexandrians who had purchased tickets in the Montpelier lottery never told their closest friends of their investment, and those who were known to have invested were easily ruffled when reminded of the fact.

VISITED SALOONS.

Rev. John Cavanaugh, pastor of the Free Methodist Church in this city, visited most of the saloons of Alexandria yesterday and urged the proprietors to flee from the wrath to come. He says he was courteously received and in some cases he prayed with those conducting saloons. Mr. Cavanaugh appeared on the Royal street side of the Market building this morning where he denounced all manner of fraud and deceit. He was especially severe on storekeepers who misrepresent goods and persons who add water to milk they offer for sale.

CASE POSTPONED.

Abe Douglas, colored, was arrested yesterday by Officer Bill for reckless driving on King street between Pitt and St. Asaph. The buggy in which Douglas was was collided with a buggy belonging to Major E. H. Janney, and Douglas's vehicle was considerably damaged. The case was being investigated in the Police Court this morning, but in the absence of certain witnesses it was postponed until Monday.

CIRCUIT COURT FOR COUNTY.

[Judge J. B. T. Thornton, presiding.]
 Steelman v. G. F. & O. D. Ewy, Co., suit for damages for the killing of a horse; jury and verdict for plaintiff for $175.

HOUSE WARMING.

A great many friends of Mr. John Riley attended the housewarming at his restaurant, on North Fairfax street, last night and the affair was a huge success. Mr. Riley gave the oyster roast his personal attention and was well supplied with help. The entire second floor of the building, which was used for the purpose, was crowded from 8 p. m. until midnight. The oysters were select Jackson Creek and were much enjoyed.

"MARCH AGAINST SIN."

Gypsy Smith led more than 20,000 persons in his "march against sin" in Washington last night, and closed the event with a midnight meeting in the Belasco Theater. Not only ministers of all denominations and their church members, but persons of all classes and positions in Washington joined the crusade and sang with one accord, "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow." Numbers of Alexandrians went to Washington last night to witness the parade.
